

PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENT

Deposition Skills Program 124 Halsey Street: Newark, NJ March 1-3, 2010

The Program:

This three-day deposition skills program focuses on enhancing the skills needed to effectively elicit information and obtain admissions through depositions. Participants will enhance their deposition skills through frequent opportunities to conduct deposition examinations and defend depositions in a simulated deposition setting, followed by faculty commentary and critique. Lectures on several topics relevant to effective depositions will supplement participant performances and faculty critique. The exercises will focus on witness preparation, dealing with preliminary matters, a technique for effectively eliciting complete information from witnesses, using exhibits, dealing with obstreperous opposing counsel, obtaining admissions and theory testing.

The Faculty:

The faculty will include experienced National Institute of Trial Advocacy deposition skills training instructors and experienced Deputy Attorneys General from the Department. Because advocacy skills training is best accomplished in small groups with individualized attention, participants will be grouped in small groups and the faculty to student ratio will be one faculty member for every four to six participants.

How Do I Register?

You may APPLY HERE online at www.njadvocacyinstitute.com by e-mail at AdvocacyInstitute@lps.state.nj.us Enrollment is limited to 16 participants.

What About CLE Credit?

NJ CLE Credit: 19 substantive credits and 1 hour of Ethics credit
NY CLE Credit: 19 substantive credits and 1 hour of Ethics credit
PA CLE Credit: 16 substantive credits and 1 hour of Ethics credit ($25.50 PA mandatory registration fee required)